

Anti-Racist Community Engagement
Digital Companion

<https://compact.org/anti-racist-ce>

Campus Coalitions Toward Indigenous Well-Being

Zia NoiseCat, Meredith McCoy, Paul Dressen, and Sinda Nichols

Digital Resources

[Digital resources are available on the next page.]

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 4.0 International License.

Digital Resources: Campus Coalitions Toward Indigenous Well-Being

Amplifying Student Voices

- Carletonian article, “Indigenous Peoples’ Alliance,” October 2021
- Carleton News article, “We’re Still Here,” June 2021

Emphasizing Relationality, Both on Campus and Off

- As colleges and universities build local partnerships, they need to commit to learning from local teachings that do not fit neatly into a digital archive. This might include, where appropriate, local stories, songs, and teachings that might be shared after significant relationship-building and through following locally-appropriate protocols. While we do not share such teachings here, any effort to build relationships with Native nations and knowledge holders must make space for these teachings to shape knowledge production towards institutional change.
- Carleton Voice article, “This Land is Their Land,” Winter 2022
- “Hard Truths and Healing: Elder-in-Residence Program Piloted at Carleton”

Telling the Truth

- Administration charge for land acknowledgement
- HIST 301 YouTube presentation video -
- HIST 301 YouTube presentation slides
- HIST 301 brainstorm of possible research topics
- HIST 301 syllabus with all personal identifiers of students and staff removed (syllabus begins on next page)

Leveraging Our Assets and Bringing More Hands to the Work

- Meredith’s presentation to the Carleton faculty-wide study session on Dakota Homelands
- President Byerly’s letter to campus on Indigenous Peoples’ Day 2022
- SSRC/NEH Grant abstract for Indigenous Communities Liaison